Pusateri Named Chief of Staff of Ohio Development Services Agency

Director David Goodman of the Ohio Development Services Agency announced today the addition of Andrew Pusateri to the agency's leadership team. Pusateri has been selected as the agency's Chief of Staff overseeing the offices of Human Resources, Information Technology and assisting with legislative initiatives.

Pusateri comes to the Development Services Agency from the Ohio Senate where he served as Deputy Finance and Budget Director for the Ohio Senate Majority Caucus. His understanding of the state budget and public policy will be instrumental as the agency works to increase transparency and accountability for taxpayer money.

"Andy's experience will benefit the agency as we work to streamline programs and provide Ohio businesses and communities with exceptional customer service," said David Goodman, director of the Ohio Development Services Agency.

Pusateri has more than 11 years of public sector experience. He has worked for the Ohio Senate Majority Caucus as a policy assistant and also worked for State Senator Bob Spada.

Pusateri received a Bachelor of Arts degree in History from Bowling Green State University.
