*The State of Ohio is an equal opportunity employer.
Revised 1.30.2018*

State Employees and State Job Applicants

Know Your Rights

State of Ohio employees and applicants are guaranteed the following rights:

- The RIGHT to freedom from discrimination in employment.
- The RIGHT to equal opportunity in hiring, promotion, transfer, recruitment, layoff, rate of compensation, training and all other aspects of the employment process.
- The RIGHT to file a complaint if you believe discrimination has occurred.

The Ohio Department of Administrative Services' Equal Opportunity Division is charged with upholding these rights for all state employees and applicants.

Discrimination is unlawful

Employment discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ancestry, disability, age, veteran or military status, sexual orientation and genetic information is prohibited by law.

What is employment discrimination?

Employment discrimination includes practices such as bias in hiring, discharging, compensation or terms, privileges and conditions of employment.*

What is unlawful harassment?

“Unlawful harassment is conduct that is so objectively offensive as to alter the ‘conditions’ of the victim’s employment. The conditions of employment are altered only if the harassment culminates in a tangible employment action or is sufficiently severe or pervasive to create a hostile work environment.”*

Do you have a discrimination complaint?

Discrimination can exist in many forms.

Determining whether you have a valid discrimination complaint is at times difficult. Answering the following questions should assist you:

Do you believe that the action taken against you occurred because of your:

- Race, color or religion?
- National origin or ancestry?
- Disability?
- Age?
- Sexual orientation?
- Gender or sex?
- Veteran or military status?
- Genetic information?

Where to go for guidance:

If you believe you may have been subject to discrimination, you can file your allegation with one or all of the following enforcement agencies:

Agency EEO Officer

The EEO officer’s function is to work with the employer to proactively address problems, process and investigate discrimination complaints, and inform agency leaders of the latest EEO rules and regulations.

Because a state agency’s EEO officer serves as a liaison between the agency and the Ohio Department of Administrative Services’ Equal Opportunity Division, the officer will forward your internal discrimination complaint to the DAS Equal opportunity Division.

DAS Equal Opportunity Division

You also may file a complaint of discrimination or discriminatory harassment directly with the DAS Equal Opportunity Division’s Affirmative Action/Equal Employment Opportunity Unit, which works to ensure fair treatment for all executive agency state employees and job applicants.

The DAS Equal Opportunity Division provides leadership and guidance for equal employment opportunity programs in all state agencies under the jurisdiction of the governor. The division assists agencies in fostering equitable work environments by monitoring each department to determine and heighten the degree of compliance with equal employment opportunity law.
